Re: Agnieszka Mc Conway

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to provide a reference for the above-named teacher, who has been an exceptional art teacher at our school.

Throughout her tenure, Agnieszka demonstrated outstanding relationships with both staff and students, fostering a positive and collaborative environment. Her role extended beyond the classroom as she also worked as a tutor, embracing all the administrative and pastoral care responsibilities that come with it.

Agnieszka also formed strong connections with the wider community, actively participating in various community projects. Her unique approach to creating a child-centred classroom ensured that each student felt valued and their individual talents were nurtured in a caring and supportive manner. She maintained a calm and controlled classroom atmosphere, which greatly contributed to the students' learning experience. Her students enjoyed being in her class as they were equally challenged and supported to engage in and develop their artistic skills. Differentiation was a particular strength of Agnieszka, as she showed a skill for supporting all learners in her classroom.

In addition to her expertise in art education, Agnieszka successfully integrated a wide range of social justice topics into her curriculum. She also taught other subjects such as Social, Personal and Health Education (S.P.H.E.) and Ethical Education, enriching the students' understanding of important societal issues. Indeed, this won her 'Teacher of the Year' in a national competition.

Agnieszka also displayed an outstanding contribution to extra and co-curricular activities, being extremely generous of her time. Examples of this include Art Club, visits to museums, hosting student exhibitions, graduation murals and preparation, charitable events and local community art projects to name but a few.

I can recommend Agnieszka without hesitation. Her departure was a significant loss to our school community, and we wish her every success in her future endeavours.

If you have any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.
